- Entry level price only increases $550 easily offset with more content when compared with the 2018 Santa Fe Sport
- Fourth generation model offers family-oriented interior, loaded with practical cutting-edge technologies, bold exterior looks and Hyundai SmartSense safety and convenience features

FOUNTAIN VALLEY, Calif., June 27, 2018 – Hyundai Motor America has announced pricing for its all-new 2019 Santa Fe, starting at $25,500 for the SE 2.4 model. New standard features on the 2019 Santa Fe SE trim include:

- Hyundai SmartSense
 - Forward Collision-Avoidance Assist
 - Blind-Spot Collision-Avoidance Assist
 - Rear Cross-Traffic Collision-Avoidance Assist
 - Safe Exit Assist
 - Lane Keeping Assist
 - Driver Attention Warning
 - Smart Cruise Control with Stop and Go
 - High Beam Assist
- Bolder design
- Increased visibility, cabin and storage space
- Idle Stop and Go
- Eight-speed automatic transmission
- Improved EPA estimated fuel economy of 25 mpg combined

- Rear View Monitor with parking guidance
- Android Auto™ and Apple CarPlay™
- Dual front and rear 2.1-amp USB charge ports

The all-new Santa Fe includes all of this with a small price increase of $550 compared with the 2018 Santa Fe Sport.

The five-passenger Santa Fe Sport is now called Santa Fe. The current long wheelbase three-row, seven-passenger model called Santa Fe will be renamed Santa Fe XL for the 2019 model year. An all-new three-row, eight-passenger SUV is currently under development and will carry an all-new name.

“The new Santa Fe underlines our commitment to safety through new standard features like Forward Collision-Avoidance Assist, Blind-Spot Collision-Avoidance Assist and Rear Cross-Traffic Collision-Avoidance Assist,” said Mike O’Brien, vice president, product, corporate and digital planning, Hyundai Motor America. “We have been a leader in adopting key safety features into our vehicles at attractive prices. Families are going to really appreciate Santa Fe’s blend of technology, interior space and striking looks.”
